What’s a neighbourhood plan?
The council has many planning policies in place to protect the character of our borough. Neighbourhood plans help communities to put forward how they want to see their area develop. Any planning applications inside a plan area must take into account the priorities set out by that community.

How does it work?
Anyone can suggest an area for a neighbourhood plan and working with our planning team, a steering group is usually created to help guide the process. It typically takes several years to get a neighbourhood plan through from inception to approval and along the way the council works with residents to balance the housing and infrastructure needs of an area with the vision for protecting the character of each community.

Who decides on them?
You do! Every neighbourhood plan goes to a local referendum giving residents the power to decide whether or not they feel the final plan reflects what they want to see in their community.

How many do we have?
There are currently three complete neighbourhood plans in the borough and another eight that have begun and are in progress. Eton and Eton Wick neighbourhood plan that was recently approved by local referendum and at council in September now forms part of the Development Plan.

To find out more about the plans that help protect your community search ‘neighbourhood plan’ on our website.
Swan patrol donation

A grant of £1,000 was awarded to Datchet based Swan Support this summer to help them continue their vital work in the borough. They faced a difficult start to the year after many swans were affected by an outbreak of avian influenza (bird flu) in February.

The group worked tirelessly to collect wild birds during the outbreak. Wendy Hermon, operations director for Swan Support, said: “This money will be a great help to us in continuing our work in caring and feeding the birds currently in our care. “I’d like to thank the council for all their help during the outbreak of bird flu, it was a real team effort to rescue and care for the sick swans during this tough time.”

The swan rescue centre treats and cares for sick and injured swans within the Thames Valley and surrounding areas. If you see an injured swan or have any concerns about a swan, please email info@swansupport.org.uk or call 07968 868172 or 07572 450967.

Car park machines to be replaced

Car parking machines across all Royal Borough owned and maintained car parks will be replaced over the coming months to allow users to use credit and debit cards to make payments. We want to make our parking machines more user friendly and bring them up-to-date.

The new machines will let you benefit from yellow Advantage Card car parking discounts.

It is hoped by accepting credit and debit card payments fewer users will need to use the pay by phone option, which currently does not allow you to use your Advantage Card to receive a discount.

The new machines will be in place across all council car parks by Spring 2019.
Next steps for electoral review

In May 2019 you will go to the polls in our next local elections, but this time things may look a little different.

We have just undergone an electoral review and the final outcome was announced earlier in the summer.

This means, if agreed by parliament, there will be 41 councillors instead of the current 57. You may also find you are in a new ward as many of the boundaries have moved and some have been renamed.

We asked the Local Government Boundary Commission for England to begin this review in 2016.

This was to make sure as the borough grows there is a fair balance in the number of residents being represented by each councillor. It also provides better value for money.

The final map showing our new ward boundaries and their names can be viewed on our website.

You need to be registered to vote to take part in next year’s elections. Make sure that you have responded to your annual Household Enquiry Form to renew your details for next year. Visit www3.rbwm.gov.uk/elections for more information.

Making your community safer

We are replacing our CCTV with a new state-of-the-art system.

The £1.3m project will see improved coverage across the borough while renovating the control room hub used to monitor and review footage.

We are already working closely with the police to prevent crime and anti-social behaviour, including expanding our team of community wardens.

The new CCTV network will complement this work which also includes our investment into permanent, more sympathetically designed vehicle barriers in central Windsor.

Apply for annual grants now

Last year through our annual grants funding scheme we gave £300,000 in community grants to support non-profit making voluntary organisations in the borough.

We are currently accepting applications for next year’s annual grants until Tuesday 16 November 2018.

There are several funding categories that can cover running costs, equipment, transport, administration, premises hire, building projects, one-off events, staffing costs and training.

Last year a number of groups benefitted from this scheme including Autism Berkshire who received £5,000, Windsor and Maidenhead Youth and Community Counselling who received £4,000 to support 12-25 year olds and Thames Hospice who were awarded £10,000.

Visit www.rbwm.gov.uk and search for grants for more information and details on how to apply.
Windsor celebrates second royal wedding

Windsor stepped into the limelight again earlier this year as we welcomed well-wishers from across the country to celebrate the wedding of Princess Eugenie and Mr Jack Brooksbank.

The day saw thousands of people line the carriage route to catch a glimpse of the newlyweds as they travelled along Castle Hill, onto the High Street and Park Street and then back into Windsor Castle via Cambridge Gate.

Cllr Phill Bicknell, lead member for highways, transport and Windsor said: “Yet again Windsor showed the world it knows how to throw a good wedding. It was a fantastic day and really showed Windsor at its very best.

“I’d like to thank residents and local businesses for their continued patience during both royal weddings this year as we could not have delivered these historic events without their support.”

Fines for removing trees

A tree surgeon has been fined after his staff were caught red-handed cutting protected trees in a historic woodland in Windsor.

A passer-by tipped off the council when they saw Mark Knight’s business Landmark Tree Surgery at work in St Leonard’s Hill.

Within hours our planning enforcement team were onsite, catching the crew in the act and compiling evidence for a case against them.

Mr Knight and the landowner Geoffrey Try both later admitted to unlawfully felling 11 trees – some more than 60 years old – and were fined and ordered to repay all the council’s legal fees, totalling more than £20,000.

You can report a wide range of issues online at www3.rbwm.gov.uk/report if you see something in the borough that needs fixing or you don’t think is right.
Around the Royal Borough

Celebrating Windsor’s heroes

What's at the heart of making our borough such a wonderful place to live? It's the people of course.

We've been helping local photographer and author Derek Reay to mark his celebration of the people who make Windsor work.

Ahead of Windsor Festival we included extracts from Derek's follow up to his collection '100 People who make Windsor work' on the hoardings outside our York House offices.

The project seeks to show how the everyday people, from the butcher and baker to the undertaker, keep our town's community thriving. Some of our staff and a former mayor also appear in the book too.

Derek said: "These are people who will bring you into this world, feed you both physically and spiritually, educate you, keep you healthy, and in the end send you to rest."

"The project is an interesting social documentary of our town and I am particularly pleased the Royal Borough agreed to feature some of the images on the hoardings outside the York House building site."

His second book on the people of Windsor was only available during the festival but copies have been kindly donated to the borough's libraries for you to enjoy.

Residents to benefit from new sensory garden

Users of the Allenby Road respite service will now benefit from a sensory garden which opened earlier in the year.

The new garden features a special selection of self-watering plants and materials laid out in such a way to stimulate the senses. Other highlights include a sensory log cabin, a mini-golf course and a wheelchair swing. It's hoped that the garden will provide residents from across the borough who use the service with a safe and calming space.

Karen Woolford, registered manager for Optalis' respite service said: “The purpose of the garden is to encourage the development of certain sensory abilities like smell or touch, and to create a protected, interesting place for people with physical disabilities who may enjoy being, working and socialising outdoors.”

The unique garden has been developed by Stephen Francis at Berkshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust with the vision of creating a model environment through sustainable use of land and buildings.

Men in Sheds initiative opens

A scheme designed to encourage friendship among men and help prevent loneliness has been launched in Maidenhead.

The Men in Sheds programme, part of our year of mental health initiative, creates a number of community spaces for men to connect, converse and create. Those visiting the shed will be able to enjoy time to do gardening activities and in the winter months it is hoped they will use their experience and skills, such as carpentry, engineering and gardening to fix-up and up-cycle household items.

Optalis’ chief executive, Martin Farrow, said: “The project encourages men to come along and share some quality time together, doing things that they enjoy. It helps to reduce loneliness and isolation, but most importantly, it’s fun.”

Men of any age are invited to visit the shed on Friday mornings from 10am-12.30pm.

Staff excellence celebrated at awards ceremony

Dedicated staff and teams at Optalis were honoured by their colleagues at the annual Star Awards ceremony held in the summer.

The event celebrated the tireless work of staff from Optalis who provide adult care services to residents across the borough.

Speaking at the awards ceremony, Optalis Chairman, David Cook said: “This is the third year of our Star Awards celebration, and I am delighted it continues to highlight the outstanding ways that our colleagues and volunteers make a difference to our customers. I am continually impressed and humbled by the dedication and commitment of our staff to making services better and improving people’s lives.”
A new service has been set up to enable homeless people across the borough to see a doctor more easily.

East Berkshire CCG is funding a pilot to run a weekly GP surgery from John West House night shelter in Maidenhead. The aim is to improve the physical and mental health of homeless people.

Each appointment with the GP and a nurse lasts 20 minutes which allows time for a full health check and for the patient to discuss their needs.

The Royal Borough, East Berkshire CCG and Look Ahead housing are working in partnership to provide this service, but there are also strong links to other services. The community wardens are identifying homeless people who could benefit from an appointment and Resilience alcohol and drug service are supporting those with substance misuse issues.

Dr Huw Thomas, the GP for the service said: “People who feel well are more likely to engage with other support services, so the long term benefits to all services providing support to the homeless will be enhanced by the availability of this primary care service – GPs and nurses working together with other community staff.”
New technology to help residents to live independently

Residents had the opportunity to look at equipment designed to help them live independently for longer at the Daily Living Made Easy event organised by Optalis (the Royal Borough’s adult services provider).

The event was aimed at people with vision, hearing and mobility problems and those who need a little extra support with their daily living. Grab rails, walkers, telecare sensors and safety equipment were on show.

Occupational therapists from Optalis were on hand to show residents how equipment and technology could help them stay as well and as independent as possible.

Cllr Stuart Carroll, lead member for adult social care and public health, said: “This is an excellent event, some of the new technology that’s now available is really innovative and means that residents can safely stay in their own homes for longer.”

CCG celebrates ‘outstanding’ rating

East Berkshire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) has announced all three of its localities have been rated as ‘outstanding’ for the second year running by NHS England.

This is the result of achievements by Windsor, Ascot & Maidenhead, Bracknell and Slough CCGs prior to them merging to become East Berkshire CCG on 1 April 2018.

The award puts the three localities among only 20 CCGs to be rated as ‘outstanding’ for 2017/18, following an annual assessment based on performance indicators, including leadership, quality, and financial management.

Did you move with #MOVINGCAN

Did you spot our #MovingCan social media campaign in August?

It highlighted the benefits of keeping active and gave us the opportunity to promote free summer events and showcase the borough’s wonderful open spaces.

Over the month, we offered you:
- 46 free taster sessions for activities such as softball, cricket, martial arts and pilates (in partnership with local sports providers).
- A free gym open day at five of the Legacy Leisure’s sports centres.
- A cycle marking event at Kidwells Park put on by the community wardens and PCSOs.
- Free basic health checks courtesy of the Wellpoint Kiosk based at Maidenhead library.

So that you can keep up to date with other offers and campaigns, follow us on Facebook: RBWM or on Twitter: @rbwm.

Dr William Tong, chair of East Berkshire CCG, said: “On behalf of my colleagues, clinicians and management teams, I am immensely proud to acknowledge receipt of the rating of ‘outstanding’ for the second year running. It is a true testament to the hard work and commitment shown by our CCG staff, both clinical and non-clinical, and our member GP practices, coupled with the continuing support we receive from local people.”

Dr William Tong, chair of East Berkshire CCG.

Healthy, skilled and independent residents
How long have you lived in the borough? The Rayner family arrived in the Windsor area during the Civil War. We now have farms in Horton and Burchett’s Green.

How long have you been a councillor? Since the by-election in 2005.

What made you want to become a councillor? I wanted to help the residents of Horton and Wraysbury. I wanted to fight injustices in the Royal Borough.

What have been the highlights of your role so far? The visits to schools and charities in the Royal Borough especially in Horton and Wraysbury.

Do you have another job? Farmer in the borough.

What do you like to do in your spare time? Walking with my family and Stubbings my dog in the many parks across the borough. Watching polo at Smith’s Lawn. President of Windsor and Maidenhead Young Farmers. Raising money for a number of charities in the borough.

What is your main aspiration for the Royal Borough and its residents? To make the borough a great place to work, learn, rest and play.

What is your favourite place in the borough? Windsor Great Park and the Village Green in Wraysbury watching the cricket on a Summer’s day.

How long have you lived in the borough? 10 years.

How long have you been a councillor? Seven years.

What made you want to become a councillor? My mother was the Chair of Norwood Conservatives when I was young and then she was a Lambeth Councillor with John Major, so I grew up with local politics. It was a chance encounter that led to the opportunity to seek election.

What have been the highlights of your role so far? I don’t view it that way, it’s a rewarding journey of successes, disappointments, frustrations and achievements. If you solve an issue that is frustrating a resident then that is a big win and gives you the best sense of progress.

Do you have another job? Is that a trick question? Being a councillor should not be a job! My career has been in operations management at a senior level, particularly in logistics, and now I am a self-employed business consultant.

What do you like to do in your spare time? Like most people I guess I do too little of what I like to do the most; which is being with friends and family, reading for pleasure, hill walking and running.

What is your main aspiration for the Royal Borough and its residents? This is a great borough and I very much welcome residents being actively engaged in local politics, I am so pleased when they care about the issues.

What is your favourite place in the borough? Maidenhead library but also Ockwells Park and Boulters Lock.
Farewell to a dedicated public servant

In October we announced the sad news that Datchet councillor, Cllr Jesse Grey, passed away suddenly. Here leader of the council, Cllr Simon Dudley pays tribute to him.

“Cllr Grey was a passionate public servant and served as a councillor for the Royal Borough for over 18 years, taking on a number of roles during his tenure. Firstly as Mayor during 2009/10, previously as a cabinet member for communities and culture and more recently as cabinet member for environmental services, parking and flooding.

“He was a committed councillor and worked tirelessly to support his constituents across the Datchet ward. His enthusiasm, dedication and commitment will be deeply missed by all.

“On behalf of everyone at the Royal Borough, we would like to extend our deepest sympathies to Cllr Grey’s family and friends, including his wife Christine who served with him during his mayoral year as Mayoress, his children, Angela and Martin and his beloved grandchildren Jack, Anna, Eva, Ella and Isabella.”

Cllr Grey had a funeral mass with a civic tribute from the Royal Borough on Wednesday 24 October 2018 to mark his contribution to the area.
